PROJECTS

Identity Data Validation System | Python

This project is a Python-based command-line application designed to validate and manage user identity data. It ensures data correctness by applying structured input validation for fields such as name, date of birth, phone number, and a 12-digit ID. The system supports operations like adding, searching, editing, and viewing user records, with data stored in a text file for persistence. Additionally, sensitive information such as ID and phone number is masked during display to enhance data privacy. The project focuses on data validation, basic data management, and secure handling of user information.
